KIDS AND DIABETES IN SCHOOLS (KIDS)

The Kids and Diabetes in Schools (KiDS) project is designed to support the rights of children with diabetes, to ensure school days are happy days by encouraging healthy behaviour among school-aged children. It was co-developed by IDF and the International Society for Paediatric and Adolescent Diabetes (ISPAD) and Sanofi. The aim of KiDS is to increase awareness of the needs of children with diabetes in schools, to ensure school staff is appropriately trained in supporting children with diabetes and to counter discrimination against them.

The KiDS information pack is available in ten languages (Arabic, Chinese, English, English-India, French, Greek, Hindi, Portuguese, Russian, and Spanish) on the IDF website. An app in eight languages is also available for tablets. Currently, 34 countries are engaged with the KiDS project.
